ROY CURFMAN TO BANK POST

TO BECOME CASHIER AT FIRST NATIONAL.

R. F. HANNA RESIGNS

Mr. Curfman Has Been Very Active In Civic Affairs—Formerly In Lumber Business Here.

Roy J. Curfman will become cashier of the First National Bank of this city succeeding Roy F. Hanna who has resigned. Mr. Curfman will assume his new duties at the bank tomorrow.

Mr. Curfman up until a few months ago was a member of the firm of Curfman Bros., Lumber Company, which was disposed of to the Fullerton Lumber Company. He had been in this business since 1905 and before that time was employed by Conrad & Totterdele lumber yard, and was also with his brother, E. C. Curfman, in the lumber business at Burlington Junction previous to that time.

He has been very active in civic affairs and has served as a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. He was born in Maryville on July 23, 1881, and his family has been prominent in affairs here.

Mr. Hanna came to the First National Bank in 1921 and upon the death of Joseph Jackson, Sr., was made cashier with Mr. Jackson's son, Joseph Jackson, Jr., as president. Mr. Hanna had been out of the bank the last two months on account of his health, being unable to stand the confining work of this nature. He has several propositions in view but is yet undecided what he will do.

The First National Bank is one of the strongest financial institutions of Northwest Missouri.

Tells of Methods of Research Work

Miss Lois K. Halley of State Teachers College Talks To Members of Social Science Club.

Miss Lois K. Halley, who is teaching in the history department of the State Teachers College this summer, spoke to the Social Science Club of the College yesterday evening on "Methods of Research." Miss Halley has a Master's degree from the University of Chicago and she told of the research work she did on her thesis, "The Motion Pictures as a Means of Communication."

Miss Halley spoke of the movies as being in widespread use and having a vital connection with social life. According to her opinion it is a medium that offers entertainment, instruction, and a ground for a better understanding between men. A detailed account was given of the methods used in doing the research work necessary to the writing of the thesis for the instruction of those students in the Club who are interested in research work.

Two other pieces of research work, one by W. I. Lewis, and the other by Leta Babb, were read to the Club. Both papers were on the phases of the general topic, the teaching of history.

T. H. Cook led a general discussion on William Jennings Bryan as a special feature of the evening.

MAY TRANSFER CASE TO K. C.

MEDICAL COLLEGE OFFICIALS BRING CHARGES.

CALLS IT "POLITICS"

Attorney Characterizes Petition Filed Yesterday As Attempt To Discredit State Administration.

Kansas City, July 31.—While Dr. D. R. Alexander, secretary of the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery, and James R. Page, attorney, were silent today on details of the charges they made in Jefferson City yesterday of bribery against Dr. Ray Horton of Purdy, Mo. and malfeasance in office against Dr. Emmett P. North, chairman, and Dr. Cortez F. Enloe, former secretary of the state board of health, Page admitted that an effort will be made to have the case transferred to Kansas City.

They charged in a petition filed before the State Supreme Court at Jefferson City that more than $30,000 had been collected by Horton to influence the state board.

The petition was in answer to charges made against the college here.

W. W. Graves, Jr., attorney for Dr. Horton, declared the entire case is political and an effore to discredit Dr. Enloe and the state administration.

St. Louis, July 31.—The hearing before the state board of health of the Kansas City College of Medicine and surgery, accused of perversion and misuse of its character in alleged "diploma mill" activities, was continued today until September 17 to allow the defendants to take certain depositions.

Even Mayor Is Fined for Violating Traffic Ordinances—Five Up Before Police Judge.

(Burlington Junction Post)

Police Judge W. C. Greenelsh has been a busy man today, due to the strict enforcing of the traffic ordinance. Five arrests were made today and the violators brought before the police judge and each was reminded to the tune of $8.95 not to violate the ordinance again.

Marshal Walton says that he intends to strictly enforce the ordinance and that more arrests will follow if the ordinance is not observed.

G. W. Combs, Frank Turpin and Loren Asbell were fined. John Houston was arrested charged with turning before reaching the street intersection and was arrested.

This afternoon a warrant was sworn out for Mayor Fordyce, in which it was charged that he turned off Main street this morning, crossed the street and parked on the left side. He paid a fine of $8.95. The general understanding of the ordinance was that it applied only to Main street, but it really applies to all streets within one block of Main street, and it was through the misunderstanding that the mayor violated the ordinance.

An attachment suit was filed today by Drs. C. T. Bell and W. M. Wallis, Jr., against Jess Campbell.

C. C. HELLMERS TO NEW POST

TO LEAVE AT ONCE FOR LINCOLN NEBRASKA.

CHANGE IS PROMOTION

He Will Be Division Sales Manager In Securities Department Of Large Electrical Concern.

C. C. Hellmers, who has been manager of the Maryville Electric Light and Power Co., for about seventeen years, will leave Maryville to accept a position with the United Light & Power Company, the owner of the Maryville plant, at their division headquarters at Lincoln, Neb. The change is effective at once and Mr. Hellmers will be joined in Lincoln by his family about September 1.

Mr. Hellmers' new position is a fine promotion and means a greater opportunity for him. He will be the division sales manager of the Continental division of the securities department and also will be in charge of the public relation work department. In this division are many plants in Nebraska, southwestern Iowa and Northwest Missouri.

C. C. HELLMERS.

The United Light & Power Company is one of the biggest electric and power companies in the United States. Just recently they took over the Kansas City Electric Light plant. They have plants all over the country.

Mr. Hellmers will go to Lincoln at once and for the present he will spend his week-ends in Maryville and will have supervision of the plant here. R. J. Wolfe, who has had charge of the operating department of the local plant will still continue in charge of that department. No announcement will be made of Mr. Hellmers' successor here until later.

His new work will get him out on the territory of the Lincoln division a great part of the time and he will probably be in Maryville two or three times a month later on.

Mr. Hellmers came to Maryville September 3, 1908 from St. Louis to take charge of the management of the Maryville plant. He succeeded J. C. Donnell, who is now living in Kansas City. At that time there were 600 customers. During Mr. Hellmers' management, the service has been greatly extended and today this plant is serving twenty-one towns in Northwest Missouri with probably 3,500 customers in fifteen towns and the other towns being sold their electricity by wholesale. Mr. Hellmers built up the plant to what was considered one of the best plants in the state and in June, 1922, it was sold to the Continental Gas & Electric corporation and in March, 1923, the Continental sold out to the United Light & Power Company.

During his time here, Mr. Hellmers had much to do with changing the feeling of the public toward a public service corporation, always contending service to be the first rule. The company always was a leader in affairs of Maryville. Mr. Hellmers never has been too busy to assist in any public undertaking. He has been president of the Chamber of Commerce, and is now serving his second term as a member of the board of directors of that organization. He was recently elected as a member of the school board. He is president of the Masonic building association and is a representative of the Knight Templars education loan fund. All of these positions he will now have to give up, his resignation as a member of the school board and as director of the Chamber of Commerce being presented today.

Mercury Down to 50 Degrees This Morning

Is Lowest July Temperature Since 1920, Mr. Brink Says—Thermometer That Year Registered 49.

Down to 50 degrees this morning! Believe it or not, that is what J. R. Brink's thermometer registered as the lowest point reached during the early hours today.

In commenting on the "wintery" weather in July, Mr. Brink said this morning that today's mark was the lowest since 1920 when his thermometer registered 49 in July of that year. His thermometer also registered 49 in July of 1908 and 1915, Mr. Brink added.

MAKING MORE BUT PAY MORE

OATS IS ONLY GRAIN SHOWING DECREASE.

MILL FEED IS HIGHER

Sugar Slightly Less Than Last Year Acccording To Report—Gasoline About 22.7 Cents.

Jefferson City, July 31.—Missouri farmers during July received more money for their farm products but at the same time paid more for provisions, according to a statement issued today by the Missouri Co-operative Crop Reporting Service.

Chickens and eggs were slightly higher during the month and hog prices for the month were almost double those of last year. Milk and butter fat remained about steady.

Fruits and vegetables were higher than in 1924, while oats was the only grain to show a decrease. Hay is slightly lower than last year, also.

However, the farmers during the month were forced to pay higher prices for mill feed, coal, gasoline, potatoes, flour and coffee. Sugar was slightly less than the previous year.

Gasoline is 22.7 cents per gallon in most of the rural communities now, the report said.

Ticket Sale Is Well Over $1789 Guarantee

$2,020 Worth Are Sold for 1925 Chautauqua, J. R. Lowry, President of Association, Announces.

Season tickets amounting to $2,020 were sold to the 1925 Chautauqua, J. R. Lowry, president of the local association, said this afternoon.

This amount is several hundred dollars over the necessary guarantee and is about $300 more than the amount last year, Mr. Lowry said.

The local committee must guarantee $1789 worth of season tickets.

All receipts over $2,650 will be shared equally between the local association and the Redpath-Vawter Company.

Because an insufficient number were sold before 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the refunds will not be made, Mr. Lowry said. If about a hundred more persons had purchased their tickets Tuesday instead of waiting until yesterday, the refunds would have been paid.

The 1925 Chautauqua is already a financial success.

Ravenwood Orchestra in Concert Monday

Will Be Last Appearance of Loren J. Schnabel of That Organization—At Christian Church.

The Ravenwood High School orchestra, under the direction of Loren J. Schnabel, will give a concert at the Christian Church there at 8:30 o'clock next Monday night.

This will be the last concert under Mr. Schnabel's direction as he will leave in a few weeks for Wyoming where he has a position next year as musical instructor.

William Gaugh will probably be Mr. Schnabel's successor as the director of the Ravenwood High School orchestra next year.

Aurora Visitors Leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moore and daughters, Dorothy Nell and Sue, motored to St. Joseph this morning to spend the day with Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Guy Erickson. They were accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Adams and daughter, Cassie of Aurora, Mo., who were en route home from a two weeks' visit with relatives here.

But Pleases Chautauqua Audience—Musical Organizations Give Excellent Concerts At Sessions.

THE PROGRAM TONIGHT

8 o'clock—Musical entertainment by the Ridgeway Trio.

8:30 o'clock — Entertainment by C. E. Burgderfer, humorist.

TOMORROW.

2:30 p. m.—Lecture, "Three Present Day Revolutionists" by Dr. Edward T. Devine.

8 p. m.—Comedy, "Strange Bedfellows," a New York Production.

Mrs. Mabel Burns entertained an audience of careful listeners at the Chautauqua this afternoon. Her object was to show the women of Maryville that the high cost of dressing is not unsurmountable.

She told how to make a duplicate of a gown marked in a shop to sell at $75, for just eight dollars. She showed another gown which cost 30 cents and two hours of sewing. These two instances are cited as examples of her "style review," not as outstanding figures. She was advertised to show "how to dress well on less money." And this she did. She displayed gowns and then told how they were made. She showed gowns which had all the style and finish of Fifth avenue creations, which cost little money and little work. She offered similar teachings with regard to hats. She was assisted by little Martha Burns who played a similar role.

The style review is something new in Chautauqua. It was well received in Maryville this afternoon. There were many men in the audience. In whatever way their interest was centered, it was obviously genuine.

Mrs. Burns is charming. Her stage manner is winning and her remarks seasoned with a sweet humor. If the new feature of chautauqua offering was on trial here this afternoon, it must have been reported successful at headquarters by now. That success is due to the nature of the offering and to the woman who was given charge.

Miss Evelyn Raines and Virginia Lucas assisted Mrs. Burns in the clothing demonstration.

The prelude to the afternoon program was furnished by the Ridgeway Trio. The trio delighted the audience with musical selections and humorous readings and were recalled on numerous encores.

The Rainbow Orchestra pleased a large crowd by its concert last night. All of the members of this organization were artists in their particular work and the leader was especially good, displaying unusual musical versatility. The descriptive pieces—circus day, the country bandmaster and the storm—were especially well received by the audience last night.

County Attorney to Be Tried on Aug. 8

Prosecuting Attorney Is Charged With Shooting Two Persons Thought To Be Bootleggers.

Houston, Mo., July 31.—Dale Moberly, prosecuting attorney of Texas County, will be tried August 8 on a charge of shooting Everett Shipp and Jack Lyon July 9.

The prosecuting attorney was to have had a hearing Thursday but due to the fact that no special prosecutor had been obtained the hearing was continued.

The charge against the prosecutor came after Moberly and a constable had followed Shipp and Lyons in a motor car believing the two were carrying liquor.

Tuck to Represent U. S. at Conference

Geneva, July 31.—The secretariat of the League of Nations today announced the United States had appointed Somerville Pickney Tuck, American representative to the seventh opium conference of the League to open August 15. Tuck will succeed Representative Porter of Pennsylvania.

Is But Little Hope in Mine Negotiations

President Of Unions Declares No Progress Has Been Made—May Mean Intervention By Government.

Atlantic City, July 31.—Flat announcement that "no progress of any character" has been made in the joint negotiations of the anthracite miners and operators to avert a national coal strike September 1 was made this afternoon by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Negotiations have been under way since July 1. Charges and countercharges have been hurled back and forth since that time.

The statement of Lewis was taken as virtual admission that the controversy is developing a situation that may result in federal intervention.

MINE STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

BRITAIN'S LABOR TROUBLE SETTLED TEMPORARILY.

NO WAGE REDUCTION

Work To Be Resumed Pending Further Negotiations—Report Subsidy By English Government.

London, July 31.—Great Britain's coal strike which threatened to assume the proportion of industrial civil war was averted at the eleventh hour today.

The mine owners agreed to withdraw for two weeks their notice cancelling the present wage agreement as from midnight tonight, and on this basis the miners' executive committee telegraphed the district organizations to continue working in the mines.

"Notices suspending are cancelled" was the laconic message which went out in all towns from union headquarters and marked the end, at least temporarily, of an industrial tieup of all England.

It is understood mine owners withdrew their notices suspending the existing agreement only upon a promise that the coal industry would be subsidized by the government to the extent of 50 million dollars to help maintain the present wage scale until next September.

No Dividends Yet to Bank's Depositors

Kansas City, July 31.—Immediate payment of a dividend to depositors in the ill-fated Centropolis Bank received a setback today when a legal barrier was raised by the federal courts. Temporary restraining orders, preventing the liquidating agent in charge from making payment were obtained by the Maryland Casualty Co., and the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., who contend they are entitled to participate as creditors in the assets of the bank.

"Days" in Genesis Signify Many Years

Representative Job of Maryville Upholds Bible Account of Creation in Letter to St. Louis Star.

According to a letter appearing in Tuesday's St. Louis Star, Representative William Job of this city writes in reply to a query received from that paper toward what his attitude would be toward a law to prohibit the teaching of evolution in Missouri public schools.

Mr. Job says:

"I believe that Almighty God, Father of Our Lord Jesus Christ, created all things in its original type, both human, animal and plant, and was the origin of humanity by creation as recorded in Genesis. I believe the period of a day as set out in Genesis can and does mean a period of thousands of years. Man has improved and developed by special care and culture every kind of animal, fruit, flower, cereal or vegetable life, "after its kind" that has come under His care and no farther. I do not believe in the evolution theory except in the improvement of "kind," and would support a measure that would give authority to those in charge of public schools or educational institutions to dismiss teachers or instructors that try to teach the theory that humanity has evolved from a lower creation."

COMMONER TO ETERNAL REST

ALL WORLD PAYS HOMAGE TO HIS PASSING.

VERY SIMPLE SERVICE

Great Throng Gathers For Last Look On Face of "Apostle Of Peace"—All Classes There.

Washington, July 31.—Under heavy black skies the funeral of William Jennings Bryan, "Apostle of Peace," was held here this afternoon from the "Church of Presidents" before the body of the great Commoner was lowered to eternal rest with the nation's warrior dead at Arlington.

All the world paid homage to his passing at the last rites in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Diplomats from foreign nations, officials of the American government, leaders in the political world, high church dignitaries, members of congress, and mourners from every walk of life were in the assembly when the soul of the great Commoner was committed to divine Providence.

Stately simplicity marked the final tribute to the "Apostle of Peace." There were the simple hymnals of the Presbyterian church, the Commoner's favorite songs, his favorite passages from the scriptures, all resounding with his own intense religious fervor and lastly there came a beautiful tribute to him as a martyr on the cross of fundamentalism from the Rev. Dr. Joseph Sizoo, pastor of the church at which Bryan worshipped in his lifetime.

The minister paid direct tribute to Bryan's great career in the field of politics and religion.

"There was no skeleton in the closet; you do not have to tread softly over any episode. Friend and foe alike know him as a man whose great concern was the causes he espoused and to those causes he came with clean hands and pure heart. It was because of this unstullified life that he had the confidence and the attention of nations for more than thirty years. His outstanding integrity, his high sense of honor, his devotion to duty, his sense of gratitude, his regards for the humble, his freedom from all cant, make his life today an inspiration to the nations of all the world."

The edifice was filled to capacity. In the front sat Mrs. Bryan, the invalid widow who had to be carried into the service, clothed in solemn black. She listened intently to the service, especially the eulogy paid her famous husband by the pastor of the church. Members of the Bryan family surrounded her. In the pews behind these persons sat the representatives of the great nations of the earth who came to know the great Commoner when he presided over the destinies of the State Department. Officials of the government came next with members of congress and political leaders, and then the Commoner's more personal friends brought up in the rear.

Outside the great throng gathered from every walk of life, waiting for a last glimpse at his casket before he was borne away to rest in Arlington, among the war heroes of land and sea.

The brief service ended, the Commoner was to ride for the last time through the streets of Washington. As a marked contrast to the worldly ambitions of this Apostle of Peace was the solemn requiem of the church-famous choristers of the capital.

A second Bryan funeral service will be held at the Bethlehem chapel of the Washington cathedral. The service was arranged by the Right Rev. James Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington because attendance at today's services in the New York avenue Presbyterian Church will be limited only to the Bryan family and personal friends.

A single spray of roses rested on Bryan's casket while it lay in state. It was Baby Ruth Meeker, the Commoner's only great-grandchild. The baby, just 1 year old, was a favorite with Mr. Bryan.

ACTS, NOT WORDS, COUNT.

One's life should not be measured by time, but by service.

Its history should not be so much a record of his words as of his acts. Its influence is not in proportion to his years, but to his righteousness. He has been of service to his fellows to the extent that his deeds have been constructive.

It is not so much the evil things one has refrained from doing as the good things he has done.

Positiveness on the side of right gets him somewhere. It builds, it lifts, it pulls, it purifies and ennobles.

Quiescent good is not a force for right. It is not a force at all.

Action is as imperatively demanded in mental and spiritual things as in material. It is not he who offers no discouraging words who cheers and comforts, but he who speaks the word of encouragement. Keeping silent when one's friend is overwhelmed with grief does not comfort him. It is the friendly hand upon his shoulder, the sympathetic word in his ear, the act of helpfulness in his behalf that means something to him. It is he who gives the "cup of cold water" who earns the gratitude of the thirsty, and not he who simply does not prevent the thirsty from getting it himself.

The negative man is a failure.

He may pull back, but those who pull forward have to carry his weight.

He is a burden that is not worth the energy that would take him a mile.

He is a consumer, but not a producer. He uses the light, but creates none. He slakes his thirst, but refuses to go to the well for water.

The inactive man may take no part in the persecution, but he holds the coats of those who stone Stephen.

He would offer no help in cultivating the soil, but would consume his share of the fruits of the toil of others. He would not aid in repelling the enemy from his native land, but would enjoy the tranquility of peace and the blessings of liberty earned by his compatriots.

Inactivity superinduces indifference, and indifference means sooner or later criminal negligence, sloth and "filthy rags." The principle of righteous activity is included in the economy of life; it is in the created universe, in all nature. "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work," said the Master. The fact that man is given the ability and intelligence to work, that he knows what is constructive and what is destructive carries with it the implied command for him to exercise his talents and intellect in obedience to the command, "Work while it is day, for the night cometh when no man can work." He who rests in idleness will not only be useless to those about him, but will develop a mental attitude that is certain to affect for ill, not only himself, but those about him.

GOOD ROADS A MAGNET.

A reminder of the excellent advertising that is coming to Missouri because of the state's highway system is contained in a recent report of the federal bureau of public roads. It is shown that in federal aid work now under way, Missouri is surpassed by only three states in the union. There is genuine progress. A few years ago Missouri's position in road building was not enviable in any particular. Missouri mud had gained a national reputation. Motorists were avoiding the state.

The situation soon will be different. A change has come already. Word of what Missouri is doing in road building has been going out to all parts of the country. The federal bureau report shows that Missouri has, completed and under construction, approximately two thousand miles of federal aid highways. And the state has improved roads in addition to this mileage. Missouri is being linked up with other states, particularly to the north and east, that have been busy with road building. That will bring a heavy volume of highway traffic farther west. Motorists no longer will turn away from Missouri.

The time has come when no state can afford to lag in road building without getting some bad advertising. They will be losing motor traffic that would help them to advance. Farmers will be denied easy access to needed markets. Development of rural districts will be hindered. These states will be out of step with progress.—Kansas City Times.

Otto Writes Instructions to Prosecutors

Rules Governing Criminal Cases In Missouri Issued By Attorney General.

Jefferson City, July 31.—Attorney General Otto and Assistant Attorney General Vandeventer have completed compilation of two sets of instructions for the guidance of prosecuting attorneys throughout the state in the trial of criminal cases.

One deals with the instructions proper to ask in the trial of criminal cases by the state, and the other with forms of indictments covering all phases of felony cases. These two compilations have been prepared in conformity to rulings made by the supreme court in the past ten years.

In the preface of the book on criminal instructions, the attorney general says that during the years 1921 to 1924, inclusive, a total of 365 criminal cases were submitted to the supreme court for review. Of this number 170 were reversed, and of these reversals 72 were because of erroneous instructions.

Reversals, he says, mean delay in the execution of the criminal laws and delay destroys public confidence in the efficiency of the system of criminal jurisprudence.

"A speedy and public trial in accordance with law, and certainty of punishment," he says in his preface to the book on instructions, "for its violations, will serve as an efficacious deterrent to crime and will inspire that confidence which is so necessary to the successful enforcement of any statute.

"With an earnest desire to assist in bringing this about and to make them accessible to the members of the bar, we have collected these instructions in the hope that they will be of assistance to those engaged in preparing for the trial of Missouri felonies."

His figures on reversals for the years 1921, 1922, 1923, and 1924 show the following:

Of the 170 cases reversed by the supreme court seventy-two were for error in instructions, twelve for faulty indictments, thirty for admission of improper evidence, six for exclusion of admissable evidence, twelve for misconduct of counsel, two for misconduct of jury and two for misconduct of trial court with thirty-four miscellaneous reversals. The attorney general says in connection with the two books of instructions:

"In the last four years approximately 48 per cent of the reversals of criminal cases in the supreme court has been because of error in instructions and indictments. A careful following of approved forms would almost entirely eliminate this condition. Inasmuch as the approved instructions or indictment is seldom set out in full in the published opinion, the general practitioner while the has the benefit of the ruling, in large majority of cases, he has no means of obtaining an exact copy of the instruction or indictment approved.

To give them access to the actual instruction given and indictments approved, is the purpose of these two books.

The costs of criminal cases are nearly always doubled when there is a reversal and remanding of the cause. It means a new trial in the court below, and sometimes another appeal.

"If there is no error in the trial court and the case is affirmed on appeal, these costs are materially lessened. The giving of proper instructions and using of approved forms of indictments will very much reduce the number of reversals. Consequently, a great reduction in criminal costs and speedier justice."

"The Silent Pal" Stars Thunder the Marvel Dog

Thunder, the Marvel Dog, will once more be seen in Maryville, when his latest and most thrilling feature film, "The Silent Pal," is shown at the Empire Theater tonight and Saturday.

In this exciting screen play Thunder is seen saving a man from death by drowning, rescuing a girl rider by stopping a runaway horse, preventing a child from falling from a high mountain canyon, digging his way to his master who is buried beneath a mine-cave-in, doing phenomenal leaps and other things that space will not permit mention of.

Frank Foster Davis, the noted author, wrote this story especially to demonstrate the remarkable intelligence of this greatest of all canine actors and he has furnished a photoplay plot that contains not one dull moment from the first title to the final fade-out.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the tenth of a series of intimate sketches which reveal the national political figure as a "brother under the skin to the man behind the plow, the white collar worker or the day laborer." Others will follow.

SENATOR CARTER GLASS

Although his political fortunes included a term as Secretary of the Treasury and a close race for the Democratic Presidential nomination last year, the hobbies of Senator Glass (D., of Va.) carry him far afield from the cycles of finance anr politics.

The Senator has two great hobbies, each rivaling the other for his affection. They are the publishing of newspapers and the raising of blooded dairy stock.

Glass has given most of his time recently to the herd, which he keeps on a magnificent dairy farm near Lynchburg, Va. It is said he owns the best dairy farm in the State and that all his cows are blue-blooded, registered Jerseys. He spends every spare hour wandering about the farm, personally supervising the care of his cattle.

This hobby almost caused Glass to commit a "Dawes" by missing the famous confirmation vote at the last session of Congress on the appointment of Charles B Warren as Attorney-General. Glass slipped away the day before the vote to visit his farm for the purpose of showing his blue-blooded stock to Congressman Reyburn, of North Carolina. Frantic Democratic attaches finally located him early on the morning of the vote, and Glass barely reached the Senate in time to cast his vote against Warren. As it was, the failure of Vice-President Dawes to attend the session made Glass's the deciding vote.

Cows Political Factor.

The Senator's political career really brought the herd into existence and created this hobby. When Glass first ran for Congress his opponent posed as a "friend of the people," while denouncing Glass as a white-collared city fellow who didn't know the needs of the people. He went so far as to challenge Glass to prove he could represent the common people.

"Why," said the opponent, in effect, "Glass would be lost on a farm. He doesn't know the needs of the common people."

This attack arroused the Senator's ire. He straightway announced he did know the common people's needs, because he was fully familiar with farm life. As proof, he challenged his opponent to a milking contest, while declaring he was perfectly willing to have the election awarded to the candidate who got the most milk in five minutes' time. His opponent backed down and Glass won the seat in Congress.

He immediately purchased a small dairy herd and learned the art of milking. The reason why, as he naively explained it, was this:

"If my opponent had accepted that challenge to a milking contest I never would have gone to Congress. That fellow could milk some, and I knew nothing about it at all."

His herd soon grew, for stock-raising became the Senator's hobby. Now he's an authority on blooded cattle.

Worked On Paper.

In his newspaper career the Senator has served in all capacities of the profession. He was printer's devil, a reporter, an editor, a business manager, editorial writer and a publisher. He now publishes two newspapers in Lynchburg, Va.—one morning and one afternoon. He writes editorials frequently, usually ignoring national issues to wield his pen in behalf of local policies.

The Senator has a warm spot in his heart for boys seeking an education. He is self educated, having started his studies while working at his first job as a printer's devil. Today there are few men in the Senate more learned or more widely read than the Senator from Virginia. Indeed his intellect was one of the personal attractions on which was founded his warm friendship with the late Woodrow Wilson.

The Senator has two secret weaknesses. One is a fondness for eating dry crusts of bread and the other is a habit of carrying a bag of mint lozenges. The latter has caused Glass to act as a throat-doctor in the Senate on more than one occasion. His colleagues, getting hoarse after long debate, always know they can get relief from Glass's little bag of mints.

Burlington Junction Post 47 Years Old

Last week the Burlington Junction Post completed its 46th volume and this week starts on the 47th year of its existence. The Post has a record that is equaled by few country weekly newspapers. Very few newspapers in this section of the state are as old as the Post. The paper was established in 1879 and has been continuously published since under the same name, and for a paper of its age, has had comparatively few changes in ownership.

AN EVERY DAY RELIGION

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for August 2, 1925. Read the Epistle of James.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

In business and in politics the measure of success is results. The businessman sends out his workers and accepts no alibi for failure. No matter how good an excuse the man may have for failure he must produce the goods, he must get results. This is the rule in the city room of our big newspapers. The reporter who fails to get what he is sent after does not have much luck with an alibi. The unlucky man is soon lost from the force. The man or woman who always brings back the story is the one who gets the good salary.

If we measured our churches by the yard stick of results we would probably be surprised at the totals. Every church, no matter of what denomination, must justify its existence by its works. Every church in every community should have a very definite and clear reason for existing. If there are three or four denominations in a small place and none of them doing any good, it might be wise to make one church out of the four and forget whether that one is Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist or Catholic. Our religion ought to be just as practical as our business. If a business does not pay dividends it does not last long. Are all our churches paying annual dividends? Are we getting returns for the money and the time we put into our churches?

To those earnest fanatics on both sides of the controversy now going on in Tennessee in the law courts I would recommend the reading of The Epistle of James. Religion according to James is not, to believe in every word of your favorite creed, not to debate theological questions which will leave the winning side in heaven and condemn the losers to hell, not to set up points of doctrine to be knocked down by other doctrinaires. Religion, according to James, is to believe in God and live your faith every day. James was a very practical man. His church was an every day church. James did not care for the man who was so pious his enameled face would crack if he happened to smile and who would swindle you out of your eye teeth in a horse trade or in swapping real estate. James wanted a man who lived his religion every day and every hour. James put it this way:

"Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deluding your own selves. For if anyone is a hearer of the word and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a mirror, for he beholdeth himself and goeth away, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was."

A very dear friend of mine refuses to attend church. His excuse is that he will not sit under the same roof with certain other members of that church whom he knows to be liars and crooks. He says he can not see these unworthy men sitting on the front seat and himself get any good out of religion. Lots of us feel that way but we are wrong. The church does not belong to the hypocrite on the front seat, although to look at him a stranger would think he was the proprietor. The church is my church, it is your church, and it is up to you and me to do our part regardless of how many dead beats may be hanging on to the preacher's coat tail expecting to be hauled into heaven in that way.

James was the brother of Jesus. He did not believe in Jesus as the Savior until after the resurrection. Then James joined the new church and plodded along, doing what he believed to be right and always on the job. He was probably elected a deacon and passed the plate. Then he was advanced to a higher office and when we meet him in the new organization he is a kind of a bishop. He was known as James the Just and tradition has it that he knelt so much in prayer that his knees were calloused like those of a camel; that he was cruelly martyred by the Scribes and Pharisees; they cast him down from the pinnacle of the Temple, and, as the fall did not kill him, they stoned him and he was finally killed with a club.

This was the kind of a man who was at the head of the new church in Jerusalem. He was not a genius. He was not a great preacher, he was not an orator, he was not a spectacular performer. He was not a Ph. D. or a D. D. He was not even a good letter writer, for the epistle credited to him in the New Testament has no plot, has no beginning and does not end in any climax. It is simply a collection of paragraphs which contain the heart of the philosophy of the writer.

The whole James theory was that you must live your religion, that going to church will not save, that being a church member is unimportant, that believing in twenty-five articles of faith or the Nicene creed, or even despising the idea of evolution, will not save you. You must put your belief into work, you must live your religion and live it every day of your life.

James was writing to the organized church, he was not writing to those who were not members. No doubt there were slick traders sitting in the pews, no doubt some of those old Jews who had become Christians were leading in prayer on Sunday and playing sharp business tricks every other day in the week.

We need a lot of men like James in our pulpits today. Men who plod along and live their own religion and expect the members of the church to practice what they profess.

The Christian church gets more hard knocks from men and women who are on the membership lists than from outsiders. An unworthy church member is pointed out by non-members as representing the church. The church member who does not pay his debts, who runs off with another man's wife, who goes into polities and becomes a grafter, hits the church a harder lick than all the atheists and agnostics in the whole world.

In the whole book of James there is not a single doctrinal point. James it was who delivered the final judgment when Paul was tried for heresy in admitting Gentiles to membership without circumcision.

To all of you who have allowed creedal quarrels, doctrinal disputes, split-hair arguments, unimportant theological claims to make you doubtful about your faith, to make you wonder about your church, I would recommend a session with the Epistle of James. It is the twentieth book in the New Testament, sandwiched in between Hebrews and I Peter. You can read it in an hour.

THIS IS YOUR STORE

Once upon a time, a man, tired of working for other people, started out to find a job where he would have to take orders from no one. Many places he visited, but everywhere it seemed that there was a boss.

At last he came to the White House. "Here," he thought, "I will find the place. Surely the President of the United States has no boss."

Upon entering the building, he was ushered into a busy office, where a dozen young men were opening mail. "What is all this mail?" he asked the nearest. "These are letters fro mthe American voters, telling the President how to run the country," answered the young man.

It is like that in business. The owners of a store are not actually the "Bosses." Always, the customer, to whom service is given, is the ultimate "boss."

Our service to you measures our prosperity. If we serve you poorly, our business degenerates in like proportion. If we serve you well, we prosper in the same degree.

College Farm Prospers

(Green and White Courier)

The college farm has grown in importance the last few years until, now it serves as great help in the agriculture classes. The farm, this year, is in fine condition and shows that the proper care has been given it.

Some eighteen or twenty acres of corn was planted in the spring. The prospects for a good crop are prevalent. Eight acres of oats, four acres of wheat, eight acres of rye, and six acres of barley constitute the small grain that was sown clover and alsike. The was sown closer and, alsace. The clover and alsike ha grown exceedingly well and shows up finely.

Preparations are now being made for threshing the small grain. Last week a straw shed was built to serve as a means of protection to the farm animals.

The farm has fourteen head of Jersey cows, six pure bred brood sows, and twenty-seven spring pigs that will weight about one hundred pounds each.

Appointed Curator.

Cora L. Baker was appointed curator of the estate of Richard C. Baker, a minor by the probate court today.

W. F. Phares Makes Many Friends Here During 20 Years

Twenty years ago tomorrow, W. F. Phares, then 19 years old, arrived in Maryville to manage the lumber yard here of his father, E. C. Phares. At that time he practically knew no one here but his way of making and holding friends during the twenty years here gained him an acquaintance over the county which is not equalled by many men who have been here much longer.

During his residence here Mr. Phares has made his mark and has been very successful in his business. His father died at his home in Sedalia, Mo., in 1906, and since that time Mr. Phares has had active charge of the Phares Lumber Yard, establishing a few years ago a hardware store with his lumber yard.

He has been very active in civic affairs and is now serving a second time as a member of the board of directors of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Maryville Homestead and Loan association.

Mr. Phares is president of the board of regents of the State Teachers College of this city.

It is in playing politics from the sidelines that has its attraction for Mr. Phares. Last year he was chosen chairman of the Republican state committee, probably being the youngest man to ever hold that party position in Missouri. During his chairmanship, the entire state Republican ticket was elected, much to the dissatisfaction of his Democratic friends. He has also been chairman of the county committee.

In addition to his business, civic, educational and political activities, he is a "city" farmer, being interested in two farms, one with H. F. Leet and the other one with R. P. Hosmer. Just this summer he played his first game of golf but as yet has not developed the golf habit like many of his friends.

Police estimate 35,000 persons have viewed the Commoner in his last sleep since the body was brought to the "church of presidents" yesterday noon. The crowd of silent mourners included persons from every walk of life. There were scores of cripples even, some of whom had to be carried into the church.

Three of the Commoner's favorite hymns were included in the program at the church this afternoon. They were "Lead Kindly Light," "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "Faith of our Fathers." Mr. Bryan always asked to have them included at any religious service in which he participated.

Although chosen to officiate at the funeral service of the "greatest fundamentalist of them all," the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the "church of the Presidents" is not known in Washington as a strict fundamentalist. Members of the congregation describe Dr. Sizoo as a conservative-liberal who never participated in the rows between the fundamentalists and modernists.

Palmer Team Wins Title in Baseball

The team captained by Lorene Palmer won the indoor baseball tournament for women which has been in progress this week at the State Teachers College. The final game was won from the Shunk team yesterday morning by a score of 27-16.

The members of the championship team are: Palmer (Captain), Miles, Jennings, Campbell, Logan, New, Gannon, Powell, Pierce, Mackey, Pierpoint, Curd, Yoder, Allen and Chandler.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fryar and Mr. and Mrs. August Boedecker of Ravenwood were Maryville visitors yesterday.

JUNIOR TOWN IS ORGANIZED

JOHN HENRY HEATH ELECTED MAYOR NEWLY-FORMED TOWN.

ENROLL 80 CITIZENS

Meeting Will Be Held Each Morning at 9 o'clock—Miss McWilliams Is Supervisor of the Work.

The citizens of Junior Town assembled this morning for the first time and the town organization was perfected with a combined citizenship of seventy-eight. The town went straight to bat with its business and in a few hours accomplished the task of organizing and under the guidance of the newly-elected mayor, John Henry Heath, started into real work.

A mayor and commissioners of service, health, thrift, and law and order were elected. The names of these officials will be announced tomorrow when they are sworn into office. Viola Henderson was elected clerk and will keep the records concerning the work of junior town.

"We had a mighty good time in Junior Town this morning," Miss Ruth McWilliams, junior supervisor said, after the meeting this morning. Miss McWilliams stated this morning, Hughie Fitzpatrick, the famous clown who has been with the Barnum-Bailey circuses, will entertain the last afternoon at the request of the Junior Town citizens, who will give a prelude to the program.

A feautre of the boys' department of Junior Town will be a bird study. This is something new in play of the kind. Related to this will be the construction of bird houses, to be carried by the boys of the town, and bird cages, houses and crepe paper dresses to be made by the girls.

The programs for Junior Town will begin each morning at 9 o'clock. The meetings will be called to order by the mayor and the business of the day brought before the citizens in an orderly manner.

The seventy-eight youngsters that have enrolled as citizens of the town compose one of the largest Junior Town organizations ever formed in Maryville. The citizens were all orderly and joined with full spirit in the songs and business discussions held this morning.

Ramsey Is Honored In Western School

(Green and White Courier)

Harold T. Ramsey, a former student at the Maryville State Teachers College, and also a graduate of Missouri University, 1918, is studying at Leland Stanford University, Palo Alto, California, and will finish the degree Master of Arts at the end of the Fall Quarter at that place.

He has recently been elected to the Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity, a national, honorary fraternity for advanced students in the School of Education, whose members are chosen from those doing exceptional or superior work in the field of education.

Mrs. Ramsey, who was Miss Frieda Shaffer before her marriage, was a teacher in the Kansas City Public Schools and also a former student at the Maryville State Teachers College.

Teachers' Colleges May Obtain Funds

(Green and White Courier)

The University of Missouri, the five state teachers colleges and other state institutions appearently will get, according to a story in the Kansas City Journal Post, the funds for new buildings which were appropriated by the recent legislature but were held up by Governor Sam A. Baker.

The governor said that the revenues of the state were reaching a larger figure than he had anticipated and he expected to be able to release the building appropriations in the present biennial period. It seems that more revenue will be collected than was estimated at the start of the administration six months ago, and that the expected increase together with the savings through economy in various departments of the state government, might make possible the releasing of all the appropriations.

If it will be possible to release these appropriations, it is expected that the money will not be available until the last half of the 1925-1926 Biennium.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, July 31.—July wheat jumped sharply while other grains showed moderate net losses in today's session of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Bidding up July wheat 9 cents by belated shorts had steadying effect on distant options.

Corn averaged lower. Trade was narrow.

Oats suffered under profit sales induced by the weakness in other grains.

Pickering

(O. G. Null)

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Saunders and son, Hershel, and Miss Lucy Saunders left Monday for North Platte, Neb., where they will visit at the homes of two brothers of Mr. Saunders and Miss Saunders.

Mrs. John McGuire and son, Harold, went to Norton, Kansas, last Friday for a visit with Mr. McGuire, who has been there some time working on a school building which is in course of erection.

Misses Mamie and Charlotte Thompson of Kansas City and Miss Ruth Thompson of Maryville visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fakes over last Sunday.

Miss Pauline Swinford went to St. Joseph last Monday for a visit at the home of her uncle, H. J. Sadler and with other relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Wray went to Rochester, Minn., on Tuesday where Mrs. Wray will undergo examination at the Mayo clinic to learn if possible the cause of her continued ill health.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Crowson are moving this week into the property in the west part of town which they purchased recently of Samuel Hostetter. They have had the interior of the house refinished and the outside repainted making it a very attractive home.

A splendid rain fell in this vicinity Wednesday which was greatly appreciated by every one. It will be of especial benefit to the corn, some of which had begun to show need of moisture during the past week.

T. L. McClurg of Bloomfield neighborhood threshed a field of wheat last week which made 33 bushels per acre and a field of oats which made 76 bushels per acre.

The threshing in the immediate vicinity of town is completed with the exception of two or three jobs in Mawery vicinity. The grain has been in ideal condition and some splendid records for fast threshing have been made. One of the best of these was made Tuesday by C. E. Florea and son when they threshed 2666 1-2 bushels of oats between 1 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. besides setting three times and moving 4 1-2 miles.

The Pickering Chautauqua will be on August 4, 5, 6, 7. The programs will be given by the Acme Chautauqua System of Des Moines, Iowa, which has furnished us our Chautauquas for the past two years. The numbers are said to be well arranged and the cast of characters stronger than ever before. The tickets are on sale at the various business houses and it is hoped that the tickets may be sold without making a canvass of the community.

GOOD HOPE

July 29.—This has been a rainy day and we had a good easy rain which was very gladly received by man as well as the thirsty vegetation. The corn in these parts is very fine looking, a good color, and the stalks are large and long enough to bear whopping big ears of corn if they have sufficient moisture and not molested by hard winds or storms. But there are so many "Ifs" in the way. Some talk like there is too much stalk—too tall with small roots not very firmly fixed in the ground, while others are just sure it will all be all right. We will see.

The hay making is nearly a thing of the past, many prophesied there would be a light hay crop, but we hear that nature has furnished us with quite a crop of grasses after all. John Morehouse put 31 loads of mighty good hay in his barn yesterday. Ted and Harold Baldwin, Elmer Hutchinson, Mart Young, Leman Morehouse, Floyd Morehouse, Charley McKee and Howard Pistole helped him, while Mrs. Leman Morehouse and Frances Dowling helped Mrs. Morehouse prepare dinner and supper.

The rain stopped the threshing machines this morning, but we will guess the men would rather see it rain than to thresh. The Highland Company machine lacked about half of one load of getting Abe Miller's oats threshed and Guy Blanchard has gotten across the 102 river and was threshing for Joe Andrews. The grain is much better than some thought it was, some oats averaged more than 40 bushels.

Uncle Johnnie Graybill is very critically ill. About 2 o'clock last night his daughter, Mrs. M. D. Young, and Mr. Young were called over to his home and Mrs. Young is still thre this evening. Uncle Johnnie is more than 90 years old.

Little Miss Elain Harmon from Clearmont spent last week in the John Morehouse home and Sunday her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Harman and Miss Pauline, also Frances Dowling, went home with the Morehouses from church to dinner and spent the afternoon. Other afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burk, Zola and Mary.

The Rev. Harman keeps talking and making plans for a revival campaign at Good Hope and he is inviting any and all in the community to join with him in his efforts and make it a campaign worth while. Remember the beginning of this effort is to be about the middle of August.

Jack Graybill, who was called last week from his home in Oklahoma to the bedside of his father, Uncle Johnnie, ate supper with his sister, Mrs. M. D. Young and Mr. Young Friday. Jack went home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Cable from near Clearmont were calling in our community last Friday afternoon and boosting for their chautauqua in Clearmone which begins August 1. They have a good program. It has been our pleasure to hear two numbers: "The Gorilla," and "Her Temoprary Husband," in other towns and they are both good.

Mrs. Laura Morehouse is staying with her mother, Mrs. Taylor this week, we hear that Gale and Wilbur Gillespie have the mumps. Gale has been with her grandmother.

Misses Ruby Baidwin and Thelma Ulmer were among those from this side who attended a birthday dinner party for Miss Helen Andrews east of the river, near Hopkins, yesterday.

Pictures of Bryan Funeral Services at Dayton, Tenn.

These pictures, taken by an N. E. A. staff photographer, show the simplicity which marked the funeral services of William Jennings Bryan at Dayton, Tenn. Above, the people of Dayton, gathered on the lawn at the home of Richard Rogers, where Bryan's body lay, as Rev. Charles Jones, pastor of the Dayton Methodist Church, offers a brief prayer. The lower picture shows a part of the line of hundreds which wound into the Rogers home to view the body of the Commoner as it lay in state in a bronze casket.

Bethany Clipper Sold by Wightmans

E. C. Conger and Paul L. Bellmard, Newkirk, Okla., New Owners—Change Made Today.

The Bethany Clipper, Republican weekly newspaper, has been purchased by E. C. Conger and Paul Bellmard of Newkirk, Okla., who take charge of the property today. The Clipper was owned by P. G. Wightman and Mary Wightman.

Until recently Conger had owned The News-Journal at Newkirk. Bellmard was employed by him on that newspaper. Conger is a son of Clarence Conger, formerly publisher of the Unionville Republican, and was associated with that newspaper before going to Oklahoma eight years ago.

The political policies of The Clipper will not be changed, Mr. Conger has announced. Lewis Ellis will remain as editor.

The Clipper was begun with the issue of Oct. 14, 1905, by W. Sam and Ada Wightman, brother and sister, children of Walter Wightman, pioneer newspaper man of Harrison County. It passed to P. G. and Mary Wightman after the deaths of the founders. W. Sam Wightman died in 1917, and Ada Wightman died in 1920.

Mary Wightman was named postmaster at Bethany in June, 1924, and since that time had not had so active a participation in the affairs of the newspaper.

The plans of the retiring senior owner have not been announced.

Chicken Thieves Busy Near Clearmont

(Clearmont News)

The chicken thieves are getting busy in this vicinity. In the past ten days they have made raids on the flocks at the S. K. Lewis, Harve Bush and Ed Dew homes. At the Dew home they took about two hundred and we did not learn how many they got at the other places. We often hear of people shooting skunks that get into their chicken houses, and we think that people ought to serve these two legged skunks in the same way. Load your guns, and load them heavy, and if you get a chance shoot these two-legged varments the same as you would the four legged ones, as they are far the worst of the two.

St. Mary's Team to Play Skidmore Nine

The married men's baseball team of the St. Mary's Church will play a team of married men from Skidmore Sunday at the diamond on the Walk farm east of the One Hundred and Two River on the State Road.

Skidmore has found it impossible to get up a team composed exclusively of married men so will use two or three single men in the game Sunday. In order to get an even break, Wilbur Allen, manager of the St. Mary's team announces that Joe Thompson will pitch for his team and Paul Buhler will play in the infield. Neither of these two men are married.

May Offer Work in All Eight Grades

The College demonstration school, in all probability, will offer work in all of the eight grades this coming year, Homer T. Phillips of the College faculty said this morning. It was the original intention to offer work in all but the sixth and eighth grades but there has been some demand for these two grades. Mr. Phillips said that if there are a sufficient number of students asking for work in these grades, the full elementary course will be offered. The demonstration school will again be in charge of Miss Mary Keith.

Local Persons Buy Stock In United Properties Which Controls Maryville Light and Power Co.

A group of officials of the United Light and Railways Company arrived in Shenandoah last evening to attend a dinner tendered to all employees of the Maryville Electric Light and Power Co., and the Iowa Service Company. This dinner was also attended by the employees of the United Light properties in the Shenandoah, Red Oak and Clarinda districts and was held at the Presbyterian Church Banquet Room.

The visiting officials were Frank H. Brooks, Vice-President and General Manager of the Iowa Service Company and in charge of operations in Iowa and Nebraska; H. E. Weeks, vice-president of the United Light & Railways Company and in charge of security sales; William H. Hulswit, Assistant to President of the Publicity Department of the United Light and Railways Company and C. C. Hellmers, Division Sales Manager, Securities Department, United Light & Railways Company. While in Missouri Valley they were the guests of District Managers J. B. Archer, S. T. Lee, R. A. Fulton and C. C. Hellmers.

About two weeks ago the employes of the companies named were offered an opportunity to become stockholders and partners in the United Light & Railways Company, which is the organization owning and operating all of the local utilities together with other utility companies supplying a total of 289 cities and towns in nine of the Middle Western States. The local electric officials are receiving the congratulations of the directors and officials of the United Light organization on the success in the drive for partners among local employees. C. C. Hellmers reports that 100 per cent of his employees accepted the company's offer and are now partners in the United Light organization, and that the other districts all attained a high percentage. This means that from now on the employee reading the meters, the man handling the trouble orders and the employees at the plant and offices of the company are not merely employees serving the public but real profit sharing stockholders in the corporation serving the community. The officials of the company feel that this new relationship will mean greater efficiency and a still further desire to serve the public.

At the Shenandoah meeting the sales plan of selling United Light and Railways stock to the patrons of the company through the employees was outlined.

Twenty-one employees from the Maryville district made the trip to Shenandoah.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Kingery intended to start Wednesday for a trip to the Dakotas and the northwest for the benefit of Mr. Kingery's health, but Mr. Kingery was taken sick when they reached Clearmont and they abandoned the trip for several days. Their daughters Mildred and Roberta intended to visit at the A. F. Stitt home during their absence. — Burlington Junction Post.
